FATAL JIMSON WEED.

A Dinner Party Followed by Wine—One Dead, Another Dying.

BURLINGTON, Ia., July 9.—A fatal poisoning case is reported from Scott County, a family named Baker entertained a dinner party, at which a dozen persons were present, nearly all living relatives. A dinner was served, and the wine followed, which it had been placed a few days ago. The bottle had recently contained liniment made from roots of the Jimson weed.

A few moments all were seized with a terrible illness. Their eyeballs swelled to an abnormal degree, great drops of froth issued from the mouth, and the sick persons hit at themselves, and were unable to raise their chairs.

In their agony they screamed and rolled on the floor.

Dr. Bell was called, who summoned an attending physician. The patients had been given a dose of emetic, and a stomach pump could be used. Mr. Hastedt, who was seemingly the least ill, died in an hour. Under heroic treatment the other persons were eased of their pain but all died, in spite of the efforts of their doctor.

In their agony they screamed and rolled on the floor.

They Would Rather Mix With Cold Water Than Empty Promises.

CINCINNATI, July 9.—"How are the saloonkeepers going to vote this time?" was asked of Hon. Elmer Hart, president of the Saloon Protective association.

"We will vote for Dr. Leonard," Mr. Hart replied, jocosly. "But seriously, I believe the Prohibition candidate would be acceptable to a great many saloonkeepers than either the Republican or Democratic candidate will be."

We know just where Dr. Leonard and his party stand. He is directly and openly opposed to the liquor traffic. He is to speak to the public against an enemy who has the courage of his own convictions that a presumable friend will use every opportunity to defeat us and create trouble. We know that he is a man of his word, and we hope to see him do something for the Democrats or Republicans. Judge Foraker talks whisky to a whisky audience and Prohibition to a Prohibition audience, and that has been the history of the two parties ever since Ohio became a state."

CHURCH CYCLONE CRANKS.

Then There are Others Who are Anti-Cyclone Cranks.

CUMMING, Ga., July 9.—There is a church in Milton county, with a schism upon the subject of cyclones. It seems that some members of the church are cyclone skeptics, which were considered by the majority of the church members as a flagrant violation of their doctrine and a temptation to God to withdraw his blessing from the rest of the church.

As the pitiful gurus are more fearful of cyclones than of the wrath of God, the organization itself into a church under the name of the Cyclone Primitives, whereas the old church has assumed the name of Anti-Cyclone Primitives.

The Botkins Murder.

CINCINNATI, July 9.—The body of a member of the Anti-J. McKeon, Marvin Smith and Geo. A. Smith, which was on the docked for hearing, was continued until Friday afternoon at the request of the state. Dr. McKeon requested that the continuance be made shorter, as there was a special hearing going on as they were looking up without bail.
